Shame has been called "an unspoken epidemic." As our society develops more sensitivity and awareness of the impact of trauma, professionals are also recognizing the impact of shame and its connection to relationship disruption, the opioid crisis and substance use, mental health issues, and body image and disordered eating problems.

The Summit for Clinical Excellence invites you to join experts on the concepts of shame, trauma, and addiction to hear their perspectives, discuss treatment methodologies with your colleagues, and explore ways to improve the lives of your patients, your communities, and even yourselves.

SPECIAL FOCUS ON:

Emotion and Trauma, PTSD and Substance Use Disorders, Shame and Trauma Within the Family System, A Jungian Approach to Trauma and Addiction, Neuroscience of Addiction, Clinicians' Role in Treating Addiction, and Trauma, Trauma-Focused Expressive Arts Therapy, Shame Addiction and Family Mapping, Addiction and Chronic Pain and much more...

Enjoy the boutique style of this Buckhead hotel in the heart of Buckhead at Tower Place that offers Southern hospitality. This landmark complex features a one-acre pedestrian park, restaurants and retail stores. This is the community’s first hotel to practice green and sustainable initiatives. Stroll through the landscaped park with fountains, statues and benches. Take the complimentary shuttle to locations within 3 miles of the hotel. Walk a few blocks to find shopping at Lenox Square and Phipps Plaza, Atlanta’s premier malls.

To make a reservation, call 800-222-8733. A block of discounted rooms has been reserved at a special rate of $155/night + tax, please be sure to mention the Summit for Clinical Excellence to receive the discounted rate.
